FARMERS STUDYING FEEDING PROBLEMS.

County Agent C. M. Merritt informs an Anvil Herald representative that about forty ranchmen and farmers, representing almost every community in the county, assembled at the M. T. Schuchart ranch, west of D'Hanis, Tuesday to study the problem of best disposing of the large feed and grain crops produced here this year.

The large quantity of feed and grain on hand and the low price prevailing for the same has set people to thinking about whether to feed it to live stock or sell it on the market at the present low prices.

Mr. A. L. Smith, beef cattle specialist of the A. & M. Extension service, was present and in an address explained in detail the many ways of feeding grain to live stock for a profit. He pointed out that creep feeding of calves is being practiced successfully and profitably in all parts of the state. Creep feeding calls for special equipment, and blue prints of the same can be had by applying at Mr. Merritt's office in the Chamber of Commerce hall.

A great deal of interest was shown in the discussions and several of those present already have plans under way for feeding a certain number of animals. Medina County has an abundant supply of cattle of all ages, hogs, sheep and goats, and there was never a more opportune time for our farmers to try out the scheme of marketing feed crops through feeding live stock for market.

Your attention is called to the fact that Hondo is just about to present its BIG MEDINA COUNTY FAIR. The dates are Friday, Saturday, Sunday, of October 2, 3 and 4. Many of the adjoining counties have promised to Medina County's Fair at Hondo some of the finest Grain, Live Stock, sewing, and exhibits of all kinds. This has been a fine farming year and all counties have had an equal chance in growing crops. Let's take to Hondo our products and let's take ourselves. Special admission rates will be arranged this year. All of you can well afford it this season. The date October 2, 3 and 4. 1t.

Cards have been received from Miss Lillian Brucks who is on an extended tour of Colorado and other Western States. She writes of the marvelous Indian festival, "The First American", which she witnessed at Albuquerque, New Mexico, and of the awe inspiring majesty of Pike's Peak, Cave of the Winds, Garden of the Gods, the Royal Gorge, the petrified forests and Phantom Canyon.

MARRIED.

Mr. M. T. Schuchart and Miss Florence Haegelin were married in San Antonio Wednesday morning, August 26, 1931. The attendants were Mr. Milton Haegelin, brother of the bride, and Miss Bernice Wurzbach, niece of the groom. Following the ceremony, the happy pair left in their auto for Northwest Texas and points in other states North-west on an extensive tour.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Haegelin of this place and a young lady richly endowed with those qualities of head and heart which qualify her for the queen of her husband's heart and home.

Mr. Schuchart is a successful stock man, born and reared at Cliff in the northeastern part of the county. He recently purchased the Jacob Rothe ranch on the Seco and here, after the first of October, he and his bride will be at home to their many friends.

This paper joins in extending to the happy pair congratulations and best wishes.

DIED.

An aged resident of Hondo, Mr. Leo Schroeder died here Saturday, August 22, 1931, at the age of 74 years and was buried Saturday afternoon in Oakwood Cemetery. Funeral services were held from the Horger Undertaking Parlor. The old man was born in Germany and came to this country when he was a young man of about 25 years. He was in the blacksmith business in several sections of Medina County for a number of years, but up to the time of his death was retired from all work because of old age and illness. He had no living relatives in this country and no known relatives in Germany.

BAPTIST NEWS NOTES.

The regular services at the Baptist church will be held on next Sunday morning. The entire membership, together with our friends, are urged to join us in the Bible school at 9:45 A. M. This is a most important hour, since it allows open discussion and free examination into the meaning of God's wonderful Book. Little does the average mind appreciate the powerful, paralyzing influence the spirit of the world is exercising over human conduct, nor how the poisonous spirit of worldliness is cheapening human character. The enriching and strengthening iron of God's grace is essential to render us either happy or safe. Come, dear friends, fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters to the house of God, and there learn lessons of enduring wisdom.

At the morning hour the pastor will discuss "The Finished Life", or the redeemed life completed. You will want to hear this discussion. It is a solemn thing to live. Life is the gift of God. Let us nourish it and cherish it.

At the evening hour, we will worship with our Methodist friends, on their lawn, or should the weather conditions require, in their meeting house. A most vital Bible doctrine will be discussed and presented.

BACK FROM INTERESTING TRIP.

Joseph Palle and a friend, Mr. Joseph Kriz, a medical student of Columbia University of New York, have returned from a trip out West. They went via Big Springs, Texas; Roswell, New Mexico; Albuquerque, New Mexico; Holbrook, Arizona; Petrified Forest, Grand Canyon; Needles, California; San Bernardino, California; Yuma, Arizona; Globe, Arizona; El Paso and Marathon, Texas. They covered a distance of 3500 miles, had two flats but no engine trouble. The Indians are still plentiful in Northern New Mexico. The petrified forest in Arizona which is 18 miles long has a wonderful collection of petrified wood. The Grand Canyon is a sight beyond description. The most impressive sight in California was the numerous fruit groves. Long stretches of citrus fruits and dates were passed in Southern California. The Salton Sea in the desert which is 250 feet below sea level was an unusual sight. The drive through the desert was the hottest of all.

REV. GUS. MUENNINK HEAVY LOSER.

Rev. Gus. Muennink was a business caller at this office Tuesday. We learned from him that in the fire at his place on the 12th instant he sustained a loss of several hundred dollars and was without insurance.

A barn 24x30 feet, together with about $200.00 worth of feed and $100.00 worth of implements, harness, egg cases, feed buckets and other paraphernalia were a total loss. The barn was so close to the residence that it took all of Mr. Muennink's time to save his residence from the flames and he had to sacrifice everything else in his way. About $100.00 worth of chickens, including two valuable pedigreed roosters, penned near the barn were killed by the heat.

Mr. Muennink does not know how the barn caught, but had been burning some hen-nests a short time before and while it seems a remote possibility, since it caught from the opposite side, a spark from that must have set the barn on fire.

HONDO, TEXAS, AUGUST 28, 1931

TEXAS AND TEXANS.
By
Will H. Mayes
"All Texans for All Texas"

"Farm Relief."

The suggestion of the Farm Relief Board to the 14 governors cotton growing States that farmers plow up every third row of their cotton, following which the board would withhold its 1,500,000 bales from market for a year, has been pronounced the most asinine action the board has yet taken—and that is saying a great deal. Counter suggestions have been made that the board burn one-third of its holdings; that it dump its cotton in the middle of the sea; that the 1,500,000 bales be given to Germany or China if either country will agree to take the board also. Not one of the 14 governors acceded to the proposal, nor has a single newspaper or other citizen favored it. This leaves the country wondering how such a group as constitutes the Farm Relief Board could ever have been found in this country and what sort of relief may be expected from such an organization. It has been suggested that as the board has now relieved the farmers of about all they have, its purpose appears to have been accomplished and it should resign.

Back And At 'Em.

The Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, probably recalling the results of a recent call of Southern States governors to meet in Austin, now suggests that the 14 governors meet again (?) and agree to have their legislatures make farmers reduce cotton acreage in their States to one-third that of 1931. With about all the Texas National Guard busy enforcing oil conservation laws in four counties of East Texas, and the legislature holding itself in readiness for special session calls, and politicians sounding the tocsin in next year's campaigns, where would the military forces be obtained to enforce farm regulation laws and collect the penalties?

Factories Needed.

While the great need of Texas is more factories, Texans should take a firm stand against being exploited under the guise of factory needs. In the past, shrewd salesmen have been organizing factory corporations with local citizens contributing for enough stock to pay for the plants and the salesmen, or those for whom they have been working, retaining a majority of the stock. Often the second-hand machinery installed has been worthless junk. In many cases where new machinery has been used, the majority stockholders have mismanaged the business and wrecked it until local stockholders have been so discouraged as to forfeit their stock rather than pay additional stock assessments, whereupon the factories have been acquired by the exploiters and afterward conducted successfully. However eager a community may be to establish factories, it should first make certain of honest conduct of factory business in the interest of stockholders and the community generally.

Unemployment Relief.

At least one city has adopted a suggestion heretofore made in this column and has decided to give its employees half-time work in order that more people may be employed. If this plan should be applied generally to both public and private employment, without decreasing the per diem pay, employees would be encouraged to acquire homes with sufficient acreage to have their own gardens, milk cows and chickens. With only half-time paid employment, the other half could be used in producing food for family use in sufficient quantities to offset salary or wage loss, and employees would have a sense of freedom that does not exist when they have notice they can call their own. The plan would largely relieve congested living conditions in the cities, for with cars and good roads suburban or country life would be possible and far more desirable, especially when giving promise of making a living at home.

Competition Lively.

There are advantages in building now. All building material is cheaper than it has been in years. Contractors are more anxious for work and are willing to take less profits than formerly. There were approximately 50 bidders for the $430,000 Federal building job at Brownsville and at other places builders have shown equal interest in securing contracts. If you plan building any time soon, you will find it to your interest to build now, as prices seem to be at their lowest and laborers most anxious for work.

Gonzales Clay Factory.

A kaolin crushing plant is being constructed near Gonzales by a California concern. It will employ 25 men and the weekly payroll will approximate $500. Shipments of products will be 10 or 12 cars weekly. The enterprise should be a decided asset to Gonzales and of advantage to its owners.

Falfurrias Land Sale.

Lubbock parties have paid $55,000 for a tract of land near Falfurrias on which there is 20 acres citrus orchard. The orchard will be increased to 50 acres and a large chicken farm will be started. There is a noticeable increase in real estate transactions in the Falfurrias section.

Weimar Improvements.

Without an oil boom or any other apparent reason than the gradual development of the surrounding country, Weimar, in Colorado county, reports more building in the town in the past two years than in the previous twenty years, showing that those who know Weimar have confidence in the steady progress of the place.

Gas Rate Cut.

As the result of an eight months investigation of property valuations conducted by the Oklahoma Corporation Commission a gas company serving 75,000 of the 125,000 consumers in the territory has reduced the gas rate from 50 to 45 cents at a saving to consumers of $1,500,000 annually, according to the estimate of the commission chairman. In accepting the new rate, the Corporation agreed to drop investigation of company property valuations.

Boll Weevils Eat Pepper.

An Alice gardener has found that boll weevils do not confine their ravages to cotton, but apparently like hot red pepper just as well and seem to thrive on it. To prove his assertion he exhibited a glass container showing the weevils feeding on the peppers.

Tobacco Experiments.

The Winter Garden Experiment Station is experimenting with cigar leaf tobacco and a San Antonio factory has agreed to use all of it of right quality that can be grown in that section. Farmers in the heavier alkaline soils of Uvalde county are successfully growing small plots of Burley, pipe tobacco for their own use. A number of years ago tobacco was grown rather successfully under cloth sheds in East Texas, but the price was then too low to justify the necessary expense.

Reducing Public Expense.

Several Texas counties have reduced public expenses by cutting all salaries about 10 per cent. From the investigations made by the legislature it seems that many officials are getting fees in amounts that make salaries appear of little consequence. State, county and city-owned automobiles and travelling expense accounts are other items that should be reduced and in many cases eliminated in the interest of economical government.

Too Many Courts.

With legislative committees declaring that the Texas judiciary is top-heavy and with many courts idle a great part of the time, it seems easy to get the legislature to establish a new court every time a group of lawyers request one.

Texans in Civil Service.

A recent compilation shows that on a quota basis Texans are entitled to 1,788 places in the Government civil service, but that only 483 are now employed. Being out 1,305 places below the quota Texans are surrendering to employers of other States $2,610,000 annually, but may be it is worth that much just to be privileged to continue to live in Texas. The District of Columbia, Maryland and Virginia are gobbling far more than their share of the public pie.

Living At Home.

A Copperas Cove family claims the championship in canning home-grown products for home use, having 700 cans of such products stored away for future use. That is not such a large quantity after all, but it must cause a comfortable feeling when others begin to talk about drouth relief.

HERBERT C. HYATT.

Our little town was shocked and deeply grieved Saturday morning when we heard of the death of Mr. Herbert Hyatt which occurred Friday afternoon at Hondo where he and his family have been living for several years on a ranch. Before moving to Hondo he lived at Nixon for a number of years, but his old home was here, and he was brought here to be laid to rest near where many of his relatives and old friends live.

Besides all of his relatives and friends here, many relatives outside of his immediate family and friends from other towns came Sunday morning to be here for the funeral services. Mr. Hyatt was a Christian and a good man, friendly and kind, and it was a saddened group of people who were gathered together. The services were conducted by Brother Wilkins of Nixon and Brother McKinney.

Mr. Herbert Hyatt was from pioneer families of this county. He was born February 29, 1884, and died August 7, 1931. In 1911 he married Miss Nell Shaw of Karnes City. He is survived by his wife, a son, Herbert, Jr., a daughter, Eunice Nell, four sisters, Mrs. Walker Denmark of Stockdale, Mrs. Luke Bell, Mrs. J. A. Manley and Miss Edna Hyatt of San Antonio, also two brothers, Mr. Lee Hyatt and Mrs. Alger Hyatt. Mr. Herbert Hyatt joined the Baptist church at Harmony about nineteen years ago.

The family have the sympathy of their many friends. The separation from their loved one is only for a while. Time passes quickly and when God wills, you will all be together again, with other loved ones who have already gone, happier than here in this world, where our Father and Jesus bring peace and comfort and happiness.

Active pall-bearers were Jim Hinton of Nixon, Seidel Elder of Brackettville, Tom Turner of Hondo, Aubrey Bailey of Karnes City, Sydney Ellis and Joe Evans of Gillett.

Honorary pall-bearers were Dr. N. A. Elder, Black Polan of Nixon, Dr. Fridgen of San Antonio, W. T. Crow, R. W. Gaines, Dr. Knopp, Earl Boon, D. Pichot, George Graf of Hondo, Jim Elder of Karnes City, Will Bell and T. Y. Martin of Stockdale.

Mrs. Herbert Hyatt, her children and other members of his family wish to thank their many friends for their kindnesses and loving sympathy shown them at the death of their loved one, and for the beautiful floral offerings.—Nixon News.

Keep an object in View

The state of mind has much to do with the way the world is serving you. If the world to you seems going wrong it need not be for very long. If you keep busy, work all day, your blues will then soon pass away. Work and save with an object in view, and the world will soon look good to you. The HONDO STATE BANK has found good times come mostly to those who save their times.

D'HANIS RESIDENCES, STORES IMPROVED.

D'HANIS, Tex., Aug. 22.—A number of D'Hanis citizens have taken advantage of lower cost of materials and cheaper labor to erect residences and make business improvements.

Among the residences recently erected have been the ranch home of Henry and Emil Nehr, south of town. Ferdie Koch has just recently completed his residence in the east part of town, while the home of Bertram

Simpson is almost complete in the south part of town.

Henry Biry added living rooms to his cafe and Julian Ibarra is living in his new tile cottage. Louis Carle has made extensive improvements to his business property, moving his lumber yards from the railroad tracks to his property and improving the buildings.

Rothe and Koch, merchants, have also made improvements on warehouses.

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

ROAST lamb can be given a delightfully exotic flavor by basting every fifteen minutes with the following mixture: one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon sugar, one teaspoon mustard, one and a half tablespoons garlic vinegar, and six tablespoons salad oil.

Sour cream has many culinary uses. Pork tenderloin prepared with sour cream will delight the most exacting epicure. Place the tenderloin in a frying pan with a liberal amount of butter and chopped onion. Add salt and pepper. Baste with one-half cup sour cream and cook until tender.

HI-JACKER VISITS WINDROW'S DRUG STORE AT DALLAS.

Robberies and hold-ups of stores all around him for two or three years and expecting an occurrence of this sort for some time, Willie Windrow was not overly surprised when his drug store was held up by a hi-jacker at Dallas recently. At the time, about 10:30 P. M., there were present in the store only Willie Windrow, a soda clerk and several customers, when a man entered and walked to the soda fountain presumably to order a drink. Willie went on about his business when he said a strange quietness caused him to turn, only to look down a pistol barrel—Willie said that barrel looked like a cannon to him—and hear a polite order to open the cash register and give him all the currency. The man refused all small money and checks, but got away with about $65.00. The loss, however, was covered by insurance. During this time the clerk and customers were forced to stand with their arms over their heads.

MISS BREEDING WEDS.

The following clipping from the San Antonio Express is of interest here to friends of the former Miss Helen Breeding, who has frequently visited here as the guest of her sisters, Mrs. Earl Boon and Mrs. Ed. Convey.

"A wedding of much interest was solemnized Sunday morning, Aug. 16, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Breeding of Encinal, when their daughter, Helen, became the bride of Randolph Wine of Yorktown. Only close friends and relatives were present, the bride's only attendant being Mrs. B. Caruthers. The bride and bridegroom left immediately after the ceremony for San Antonio and other cities, after which they will be at home in Yorktown."

COLONIAL COVERINGS.

An interesting exhibition of the latest western thriller starring Ken Maynard, which comes to the Colonial Theatre Saturday. This latest western proves a thrilling talkie, with blonde Lucille Powers as the leading woman. Ken Maynard's white horse "Tarzan" lends mighty interest in this blazing story of a man who fought with brains, brawn and brace of guns for justice on the range.

The first American college story authentic in all its details, "Confessions of a Co-Ed," has been brought to the screen by Paramount and will open a two day showing at Colonial Theatre, starting Sunday. "Confessions of a Co-Ed" in the day-to-day diary of an anonymous co-ed, whose own highly dramatic and intensely emotional experiences reflect the thoughts and actions of all modern college youths, deals with one of the most vital and interesting phases of present-day life. In it are pictured the joys, the rivalries, the jealousies and love affairs of young men and beautiful girls, many of them away from home, "on their own," for the first time in their lives. Acted by two interesting young college men, Phillips Holmes and Norman Foster, and a young stage star who has risen recently to movie prominence, Sydney, in the featured roles, "Confessions of a Co-Ed" is college life as it is lived. The drama of this affair is carried on in a high charged atmosphere of intense emotion, against a colorful background of gay fraternity life, campus flirtations, house parties.

Marie Dressler, as a feminine candidate for mayor, romps through comical tribulations in a campaign and also dominates some very dramatic scenes in "Politics," her new M. G. M. picture to be shown at the Colonial Theatre Thursday and Friday. The story deals with a housewife who, goaded to anger by corrupt conditions in the small town she lives in, starts out to clean up. Polly Moran is her campaign manager. Others in the cast are Bill Bakewell and Karen Morley, John Miljan, Tom McGuire, Roscoe Ates, Joan Marsh.

MORE ABOUT THE MONUMENT.

In a recent issue of this paper was a brief announcement that a monument was to be erected on September Square, in Castroville, Texas, in commemoration of the founding of that town on September 4, 1844.

The blue print of the monument contains the following inscription, with changes pending further investigations of the old records held in keeping at the court house of Medina County here:

"To Commemorate The Founding of Castroville By Henri Castro, on September 4, 1844 and Blessing of Cornerstone for St. Louis Catholic Church By Rt. Rev. J. M. Odin on September 12, 1844.

The first Catholic Church founded between San Antonio and the Rio Grande."

The list of first settlers of Castroville follows, a few of the names of whom are familiar in Medina County today and many of whom have migrated to San Antonio and elsewhere. The list of names is not complete according to records, and there may be changes made in the list below:

This fine work of doing homage to a brave and pioneering people is that of the Bejar Caravan No. 56, Order of the Alhambra, San Antonio, Texas, and through the suggestion and investigation of Joseph Courand of San Antonio and Judge H. E. Haass of Hondo.

The present blue print shows the upper part of the stone as containing a scroll or coat of arms. There may be a change and a picture of Henri Castro, taken from photostatic copies of the original photograph may be substituted. This is not definite however. The lower portion of the monument contains the following and final inscription:

A NEW DEPARTURE IN STALK CUTTERS.

An Invention That Promises to Revolutionize Present Methods of Cotton Farming.

It has been long said that necessity is the mother of invention and again the saying has proved true in the case of Mr. E. E. Bartlett, successful banker and farmer of George West, Texas. When several years ago Mr. A. C. Bradshaw, first farmer of the Simmons community, came to Mr. Bartlett and described the idea of a stalk cutter he had in mind that would cut stalks into bits—not merely break them; that would cut them green or dry regardless of size; that would leave them in an even litter on the ground—not in a tangled mass, Mr. Bartlett quickly grasped the importance of the Bradshaw idea and proceeded to translate it into reality. It was not long until the first unit of a farm implement factory was being erected right here in George West in the heart of Southwest Texas. The third unit, a foundry, is now nearing completion. Such initiative in response to a real need deserves to be brought to attention of cotton producers everywhere. The factory is purely a local enterprise in which only Texas talent and Texas capital have been enlisted.

Both single and double row horse drawn cutters are being manufactured and a two row tractor attachment. The cutter itself consists of three scalloped coulters steel (cold rolled) discs set seven and one half inches apart on an upright shaft geared to the wheels. Set directly opposite these three cutting discs are three circular finger guards also geared to the wheels (of horse drawn machines) and set on a separate shaft. Thus the discs and guards revolve inward in opposite directions and stalks of any kind and size are cut with perfect ease and into four separate pieces. As many as fourteen acres of green and semi-green stalks have been cut in one day with the single row machine on Mr. Bartlett's river bottom farm. It was he who last September showed me the single row machine in operation on his fertile acres leveling to the ground rank stalks which had grown to five or six feet in height. From this field demonstration I was able to fully agree with Messrs. Hall Brothers,

Hints For Homemakers

By Jane Rogers

If your pancakes have a tendency to stick to the griddle, try rubbing it with the cut side of a raw potato instead of greasing it. This will usually prevent sticking even when grease consistently fails.

The art of seasoning lies in blending and developing the flavors of the main ingredients; never in smothering them out of all recognition. A small amount of sugar, for instance, is frequently used in the preparation of meat and fish sauces; not to sweeten, but to point up and harmonize the flavors of the fish or meat, and the other ingredients of the sauce.

ers, Mrs. Drew Dunn and other practical farmers and business men that here at last is the first real cotton stalk cutter.

I inquired concerning the durability of the machine and was informed by Mr. Henry Martin that by test a single row stalk cutter has covered 7,000 acres without one penny being spent for repairs. "They are built to last a lifetime," he told me. "Bearings are lubricated by a pressure grease gun—the same as in late model cars. The two wheels and framework are made of angle iron electrically welded. Cogs and other necessary cast parts are 40 per cent steel.

I inquired if these stalk cutters were very hard on teams. Mr. Martin then showed me their perfect balance. "They are very light draft," he replied, "requiring little more effort to pull when in operation than an empty wagon. The two row machine can be drawn by a single team," he informed me.

I was shown a stalk cutter attached to a Farmall tractor. It clamps on in a few moments. Power to operate the cutters is transferred directly from the tractor motor by belt. Little power is required for this and thus stalks can be cut and listed or flat broke at one operation with the tractor attachment. Therefore it is now possible for the cotton grower to cut stalks immediately after cotton picking is over and turn them under as green fertilizer, making it possible to conserve every ounce of stalk fertility instead of dissipating it in smoke as is done by the raking and burning method. Boll weevil and other insect pests will find life in the cotton fields hard sledding from now on for if stalks are not immediately turned under they will be cut green and left to dry in the summer before autumn. We have proved that in labor saving alone our stalk cutter will pay for itself in a few seasons on the average cotton farm," Mr. Martin advised me.

I was impressed with the fact that here is being produced for the first time a new and most necessary agricultural implement comparable in quality of material and workmanship, in efficiency and in price with any machine produced by the large implement factories of the North. Needless to state it has taken time to perfect the machine as it now is. This work has been accomplished jointly by Mr. Bradshaw and Mr. Bartlett. But the patent right is vested in the company and not in the name of an individual. Mr. Bartlett's stockholders will share with him in any profits that may be realized from operation of this implement factory. The factory will begin full time operation about February 1st, I was told when the foundry will have been completed. I was shown through this little factory which will be a model of efficiency and completeness. Only the very latest and best machines of every type are being installed, for this work is about complete.

The genuine merits of this new stalk cutter and the pride of resident citizens in this local enterprise will no doubt carry it on to complete and lasting success.

OUR CREED.

Keep us, O God, from pettiness! Let us be large in thought, in word, in deed.

Let us be done with fault-finding, and leave off self-seeking.

May we put away all pretence and meet each other face to face without self-pity and without prejudice.

May we never be hasty in judgment, and always generous.

Teach us to put into action our better impulses, straight-forward and unafraid.

Let us take time for all things, make us grow calm, serene and gentle.

Grant that we may realize it is the little things that create differences, that in the big things of life we are as one.

May we strive to touch and to know the great common woman heart of us all, and let us not forget to be kind.

Texas Boys Will Visit Detroit As Winners In Coach Competition

CARL WATERS

EMMETT E. DAY

Emmett E. Day, of Commerce, and Carl Waters, of Fort Worth, are preparing for a three-day visit in Detroit, as guests of the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild, representing Texas at the first annual meeting of Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild winners. The meeting will be held in the automobile capital next month.

Day and Waters qualified for the honor, which is limited to two boys in each state, by constructing the best miniature Napoleonic coaches in the $50,000 competition sponsored by the Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild. At the judging held recently in Dallas, they were awarded the trip, $50 each in gold, and the right to have their models judged in the national competition for four university scholarships of four years each.

Two other Texas boys, Murray A. Winn, of San Antonio, and George Nicholas Willman, of Greenville, will also have their models judged in the scholarship competition, and receive $50 each, as winners of second awards.

The Detroit meeting, to be held August 24, 25 and 26, will be filled with entertainment and instruction, says advice from Guild headquarters. It will include visits to industrial plants, a day at the General Motors Proving Ground, a dinner, a boat trip, and a big league ball game, to mention only a few of the features. The entire Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild program is to be repeated next year, the same list of awards being offered for outstanding coach models.

the tractor you've always wanted

2 TRACTORS in 1 FOR ALL PURPOSES

HERE, in the new

Model "CC"

Case, is a tractor that successfully combines a plowing and a cultivating tractor in one machine. It is the first tractor to offer a variable wheel spacing feature by which the rear wheels can be easily moved in or out, from standard 43-inch tread for plowing to various treads, up to 84 inches, for row crop planting and cultivating.

This is the tractor you've always wanted. It fits all your work... handles easily between the rows... swings around quickly... loses no time in turning... works rapidly because of these features and enables you to accomplish a lot of work in a day.

The Model "CC" is designed to work with two and four row planters and cultivators and is adapted to various equipment for every soil and row crop.

Those who have seen this new tractor are loud in their praise of its unusual features which, it is easy to see, will cut the cost of every farm operation. Come in and let's see what you think.

CASE

HONDO, TEXAS

MAPLE SHADE STOCK FARM.

Eugene B. Bennett in The Holstein Breeder and Dairyman.

Chester County, Pennsylvania, is noted for its many fine dairy farms and profitable herds of dairy cows. It is the leading dairy County in the Keystone State; which proves that its dairymen as a whole are very efficient in the management of their business and in this great dairy section, we find a dairyman who has made more than an ordinary success producing milk and he has done it with purebreds.

Mr. Marshall L. Jones is the man to whom I refer. He owns and operates 6 large farms consisting of nine hundred, thirty acres at Westtown, Chester County, Pa., and his history as a dairyman is very interesting.

Mr. Jones has been in the dairy business for fifty-three years. Starting with ordinary cattle, he gradually improved his herd until he had a herd of very high producing grades.

So many times we hear a dairyman say that his grades are superior to purebreds in the economical production of milk and other dairy products and he produces figures that would convince a person that he has a very profitable herd of dairy cattle. But let's be fair to the purebred cow and give her proper credit for what she has done to help improve the grade cattle found on the dairy farms in this country.

Whenever we find a good herd of grades, we discover that there is a high percentage of purebred blood running in their veins which ought to convince the most skeptical dairyman that being a purebred registered animal is not detrimental to a cow, but rather, it is a valuable asset. Why? Because purebreds have been bred for a definite purpose for centuries.

About twelve years ago Mr. Jones decided to change to purebred Holsteins and since that time has gradually increased the number of purebreds until, at the present time, he has about two hundred and fifty head which are kept on three different farms. A major part of the milking herd is kept on the home farm under the personal supervision of Mr. Jones.

The milk from the dairies is sold to the Pennsylvania Training School at Elvin, the Sleighton Farm School and to Supplee-Jones Co. of Philadelphia.

The milk is produced under Philadelphia Board of Health Inspection and, upon their first inspection, they issued a permit showing that the sanitary condition of his stables and milk room and method of handling milk complied with the city requirements, something that had never been done before.

The barns are all completely equipped with James Equipment; the stalls are kept heavily bedded; lime is sprinkled on the floors. The dairy house is scrupulously clean. In fact, the entire plant is neat and sanitary. The same neat appearance prevails over the entire farm. Fences are in first class condition, hedges are well trimmed, nothing being overlooked.

Keeping the individuality and breeding of this herd up to the proper standard required careful study and the present herd shows that Mr. Jones is an exceptionally good judge of bulls.

King Fairview Aaggie Colantha was the first good bull owned by Mr. Jones. This bull has made a marked improvement on the herd and if there is anything in good blood lines, it is plain to be seen why he has done so. His sire, Fairview Korndyke Lad, was by Pontiac Korndyke and the former World's Champion 37-lb. cow, Pontiac Pet, who was also sired by Pontiac Korndyke.

The dam of King Fairview Aaggie Colantha was Dutchland Colantha Aaggie Cornucopia, a 34-lb. daughter of Colantha Johanna Lad and Aaggie Cornucopia of Dutchland, a 30-lb. daughter of Lilith Pauline De Kol's Son and Aaggie Cornucopia Pauline, that famous 34-lb., four-year-old that made such an impression on the Holstein Industry.

Lilith Pauline De Kol's Son was by Johanna Aaggie's Sarcastic Lad, a son of the famous Sarcastic Lad. The dam of Lilith Pauline De Kol's Son was Lilith Pauline De Kol, the former World's Champion 28-lb., four-year-old that held the World's record for seven years.

The daughters of King Fairview Aaggie Colantha are large, square-jumped cows that produce heavily at the pail and they are good enough to win in any show ring.

Hubbavale Manor De Kol Producer was another good bull owned by Mr. Jones. The sire, Netherland Artis Pontiac Winana, was a 31-lb. grandson of King Pontiac Artis, a 1,000-lb. daughter of Hengerveld De Kol, the first century sire.

The dam of Hubbavale Manor De Kol Producer was Aaggie Manor De Kol, a 30-lb. cow who averaged 93 lb. milk per day for seven days. She came from famous old time breeding that played an important part in the history of the breed.

Another herd sire who is helping to put Jones herd to the front is King Onyx Pledge, an eleven-hundred-pound grandson of King Korndyke Hengerveld Ormsby, the dam of Sir Pietertie Ormsby Mercedes, one of the greatest sires that ever lived.

A good many of the daughters of King Onyx Pledge are in the herd and they are the kind that we all like to see.

One of the highest record bulls in service today is in service at the Jones Farm. His name is Colantha Funderne Korndyke. The dam of this great bull was the famous Kolrain Funderne Bess, who produced 1,396.45 lb. butter, 35,085.40 lb. milk in a year on strictly official test. This record stands highest in the world for milk and second for butter in strictly official test.

The sire of Colantha Funderne Korndyke was a highly bred grandson of Colantha Johanna Lad, thus several of the best known families of the breed were united to produce this great herd sire.

Perhaps the best bred bull that Mr. Jones has ever owned is Colantha Sir Walger Pietertie. The records of his twenty-one nearest dams average 30.85 lb. butter in seven days.

His sire, King Rag Apple Aaggie Colantha, was by Colantha Johanna Lad and from Rag Apple Aaggie Colantha, a 40-lb. senior four-year-old daughter of Dutchland Sir Pontiac Rag Apple. She made 1,263 lb. butter from 25,303 lb. milk in a year. Her dam was a 34-lb. daughter of Colantha Johanna Lad.

The dam of Colantha Sir Walger Pietertie produced 30 lb. butter in seven days. She was the famous Ruby Walker Pietertie 3d, that great daughter of King of the Black and Whites who was a 31-lb. son of King Colantha Clothilde, one of the famous bulls of his time.

The three direct dams of Colantha Sir Walker Pietertie are all 30-lb. cows and with all the good breeding behind him, he is one of the most desirable bulls to be found.

Mr. Jones employs several men on his farms but does his own superintending. Nothing is overlooked in providing pleasant homes for his employees and some of his men have been with him a long time.

To furnish feed for so large a herd of cattle requires a large acreage to be plowed and seeded every year and requires a large amount of equipment.

Mr. Jones thinks that mules are superior to horses for farm work. He uses about sixteen mules on his farms, besides tractors which are used for harrowing, etc.

This year 125 acres of corn were planted, which alone required a lot of labor; about fifty acres of wheat are grown each year, the usual yield is around 40 bushels per acre.

Alfalfa is grown for a hay crop and quite an acreage of potatoes is usually grown.

Most of the above mentioned work is done by the mules which are of the size that bring big prices on the market, in fact, Mr. Jones keeps nothing but the best in all kinds of livestock.

And say! I almost forgot to mention it, "Maple Shade Stock Farm" is the name of the farm, and by the way, you ought to pay the Jones family a visit, hospitality just shows from every corner. Mr. and Mrs. Jones have two sons, Marshall, Jr., aged seventeen years, and Russell B., aged fourteen years, and they bid fair to become real Holstein men. Of course, no real dairyman would think of keeping a herd of cattle that was not free from tuberculosis. Mr. Jones is no exception to the rule and his herd is regularly tested.

The herd has been in a cow testing association for about six years. Last January at the Pennsylvania State Farm Products Show, Mr. Jones was one of the four dairymen in the State whose herd averaged in Cow Testing Association work from 350 to 400 lbs. butterfat. This is a wonderful accomplishment when you consider the size of the Jones herd.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones raise turkeys for a side line, and they have been very successful with them. Occasionally a few Holsteins are shown at the Chester County Fair and Mr. Jones usually carries off the lion's share of the ribbons. Last year he won the grand championship with one of his good cows and she was not even fitted for the show ring.

One will go a long distance to find a more efficient and up-to-date dairy farm than the one owned by Mr. M. L. Jones at Westtown, Pa. na.

Milk is excellent for fattening chickens. It helps to develop the tissue and improve the quality of the meat. Use about 2 pounds of milk to 1 pound of mash. With dried milk, use 15 pounds to 100 pounds of mash and moisten with water.

Entomologists flying in airplanes have captured insects 14,000 feet above the earth and some probably go higher.

The Editor.

Ladies! We've been asleep! We have been allowing the gentlemen to monopolize this magazine, filling its pages with politics, goat news, bee items, poultry, cattle and agriculture. Of course we admit we like those articles almost, if not quite, as well as the men, but don't you think it time we assert our rights to a say-so in these columns?

The men might say in their broad conceit: "The woman's place is in the home, and not in a magazine column." But they forget that many, many things are found in a household column which make of that woman's place a kingdom of which the man is the first to learn the comforts. These columns often give her ladyship household hints hardly to be imagined but very surprising and satisfactory when worked out. It's time for the ladies to show what they can do—and it's beyond guessing at.

To begin with, we are asking each one of you to write in your favorite recipe; it may be on cakes, preserves, cheese, meats—any subject you desire as long as it is your favorite. That shouldn't be so hard. To her who has the best recipe we will give free one year's subscription to FARMING or a renewal of one year if she already receives the paper. Isn't that worth writing in for?

Any other letters or suggestions for the success of "our" page will be greatly welcomed and appreciated. Write us your ideas about and experiences with household arts such as cooking, cleaning, redecorating, preserving, storing, quilting, sewing—and a million other hints for don't forget the kingdom we are working for!

Just address Household Editor, Fletcher's Farming, Hondo, Texas. We are all expecting to hear from you, so don't disappoint us.

SOME TESTED RECIPES.

Arranged by Domestic Science Department C. I. A.

Now that summer is here with its heat and consequent loss of appetite, what could be more refreshing than a dessert made with buttermilk or sour milk as a foundation?

The taste of sweet milk is not pleasing to many adults, while the acid of the buttermilk gives zest to the appetite and is rich in calcium and phosphorus and also in the much talked of vitamins B and C.

In making Lacto do not any fruit juice can be used, though the addition of lemon juice improves the flavor. If your milk sours when the ice runs low, do not throw it away but convert it into cottage cheese to serve as a salad to your main course at supper. Sprinkle scallions with salt and salad dressing and has the addition of chopped olives will make it pleasing to both young and old. This may be served on lettuce leaves or stuffed into a tomato. A loaf of nut bread made in the morning and perhaps one hot dish assures the family of a satisfactory meal with little preparation at the last minute. These menus were prepared by an expert in the home arts department at the College of Industrial Arts.

A TIP FROM THE CLEANER.

By Juliette Fraiser.

Probably a great many farm women who are deprived of the facilities of sending spatted or stained clothing to the cleaner will appreciate the information which I received from a cleaner and dyer of long experience. The simplicity of its construction makes it possible for anyone to duplicate. Take a piece of hair bath about twelve inches long and three inches wide. Place this upon a piece of worsted or some other heavy material of the same dimensions and form a compact roll. The ends are then stitched and the remover is complete. Dip the end of the roll into gasoline or ether and rub the material gently. If the gasoline leaves a ring dip the other end of the roll into dry table salt and rub over the surface which is being cleaned. To remove the shine from serge or other material, dip the roll in warm vinegar and rub the material the wrong way to raise up the nap. Care should be taken, however, not to rub the material hard enough to wear the fabric being cleaned.

For collars and fur cuffs on coats or fur neck pieces may be easily cleaned at home by using fine clean saw dust and benzine. Spread the garment to be cleaned upon a table. Saturate the saw dust with benzine and rub a small quantity of it gently with the finger tips into the fur. As the saw dust soaks up the grease and dirt it will become black.

Then shake it out and use more clean saw dust. Continue this process until the saw dust comes out clean. Now have two sticks, about 1-2 feet long and about one inch in circumference. Take one of these sticks in each hand and beat the fur gently, but vigorously until it becomes fluffy again as it was when it was new. Then hang the garment in the open air or in front of an open window and leave it for about twenty-four hours or until all the odor of benzine has evaporated.

PLANT A CHESTNUT TREE.

Middle aged men can remember the time when chestnut trees were quite common. In many localities the boy of today would be puzzled to find a chestnut tree for hours before he found one of these trees—and it would be little more than a shrub. The famous chestnut blight of twenty-five years ago did its work well.

Every boy or man who finds a nut-bearing chestnut sprout owes it to future generations to do his best to produce other chestnut sprouts and trees in the vicinity. If all would do this the chestnut tree might once again become common.

Pall-bearers were all nephews of the departed: Messrs. Herman, Ernest and Henry Vogel, Leon and Jack Droicourt, Jr., and Daniel Biediger.

CLEANLINESS THE FIRST RULE.

Turkey raising, an industry which was almost wiped out a few years ago in the East and Middle West, is staging a comeback as a result of modern methods of sanitation. Turkeys raised under this new system are fed from clean, waste-proof feeders—never from the ground—and they drink from clean dishes, say poultry specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Yards are kept clean by covering the surface with gravel, moving buildings to clean locations from time to time, disposing of manure, and keeping the turkeys away from chickens. The young turkeys are raised on land that has not been used for poultry for at least one year.

SCATTERING SEEDS AFAR.

It often happens that when some one does a great work, something far-reaching in its service to humanity, his nearest neighbors know least about it. Rev. J. T. Horger's neighbors know he is the author of a book; they know it is a very unusual book; but they do not know how far away it is reaching and the good it is doing in out-of-the-way places. To afford these neighbors a glimpse of this, we print the below communications, taken from the numerous letters he is receiving from everywhere. This is not an advertisement of the book and was not even solicited by Rev. Horger; it is printed by his home-town paper out of its pride in and appreciation of the recognition being accorded a home town man and in the hope that it may in some small way help in furthering the good he hopes to accomplish with his book.

Dear Brother Horger:—I received your book and although I know you sent it to me as a gift, yet I am pleased to have it and I am enclosing check to pay you for it. I know you must have spent a lot of money in getting it published and you will no doubt need all you can get for your book. I truly believe you found much blessing in writing it and I can see that it will be a blessing to all who give it careful attention. I have not yet read it through but I am pleased with what I have read and wish to express my heartiest good wishes for the prosperity of the author.

Very Respectfully,
R. G. Fitz.

Dear Brother Horger:—Greetings in the precious name of Jesus! Your letter of some time ago came to hand in due time. After several weeks the book arrived. I have delayed answering because of illness. At the time the book came I was on my way to the hospital where I spent some sixteen days. I had a very severe attack of anthrax. I have now returned home but am far from well. I am trying to rest and see if that will bring me around alright. While in the hospital my wife read a good number of chapters to me which I enjoyed to the full. The book is fine. Many of the lessons taught therein I had never seen before. You have given to the Holiness movement a very fine book and I pray that the Lord will make it a very great blessing among the people. Thank you so very much for a copy of it.

The work is moving forward. God is blessing. We are looking forward to the visit of our dear Dr. Chapman. We trust that his visit among us will be a great blessing to him and also to us.

We are holding revival meetings at all of the outstations as preparation to the camp meetings when Dr. Chapman is here. The men are going ahead with the meetings and you are very greatly blessing them in the work. We give Him all the praise for all He is doing among us.

I would greatly appreciate an interest in your prayers at this time. If it would please the Lord I would like to be raised up to still maintain His work in this dark land.

Once again thanking you for the book and praying God's very richest blessing on you I am

Yours, to make Jesus known,
C. S. Jenkins.

Dear Brother Horger:—I am in receipt of your good letter also a copy of your new book, "Fundamental Revelation in Dramatic Symbol". Thank you very much. To say that I am pleased with the book is placing it very mildly. It is so freighted with fresh lines of thought that I thoroughly enjoy every page. I have not read it entirely through but must stop to drop you a line to let you know that it goes far beyond my expectations. There are many books in the world, but few to fill the place this one fills. I have never read anything so thorough and so deep on the Symbols of the Bible before. It so pictures the lost sinner, the saved and sanctified soul that any thoughtful person must accept it.

It is not only fascinating but is literally dripping with rich soul food. I believe it is just the book for the Missionary in his work. I am already using it in one of my classes for young preachers. I see where it can fill a place in my work nothing has filled heretofore.

I believe God will bless this new book, "Fundamental Revelation in Dramatic Symbol", to the salvation and sanctification of many hungry hearts. Thank you very much for writing me. We pray the Father to pour out upon you countless blessings for your continued labor in His Vineyard. I am,

Your brother for Japan,
W. A. Eckel.

Dear Brother Horger,

Your good letter of 27th February was received in due time and read with much interest but I have not replied because I was waiting to acknowledge receipt of the book. This came in the last mail all safely and I thank you for it. I have just glanced through it but will take more time later to read it. From your letter and table of contents it looks like it might be interesting and I am sure that I will enjoy reading it. Thank you for your thoughtfulness in sending me a copy.

You will be glad to learn that the cause of God in this section of the field is making good progress. Our mission has been established here for more than thirty years and we have had some fruit from time to time to encourage us, but recently there has appeared a real move among the people on a rather large scale and we are trying to capitalize it for the salvation of the people and the glory of God. A brief account of the most recent move will appear in either the Other Sheep or Herald of Holiness in due time.

Please continue to pray for us and the work of God in this dark land so full of idols and all that follows in the wake of idol worship.

Your brother in Christ,

HONDO BOY IN CHARGE OF HORSE SHOW.

Boise horse lovers will have opportunity to see the best state of horses in equine talent at the final evening program of the western Idaho State fair, dates of which are September 2, 3, 4 and 5. It is announced by the fair management.

The program on this date will be featured by the first annual Boise horse show to be held in connection with the fair. Capt. Joe C. Rogers of the United States cavalry will be in charge of the exposition.

Offer Trophies

Because of the current increased interest in good horse flesh, especially hunters, chargers and polo ponies, the fair management decided to add a horse show to the 1931 exposition. Suitable silver trophies will be awarded in classes, as well as ribbons for first three places.

The western Idaho district is unusually rich in good horses, capable show animals, it is pointed out by Captain Rogers. Wide use of government remount stallions during the past few years has resulted in a large number of half and three-quarters thoroughbreds, many of which are fine, well-built animals in which the speed of the blooded sire is combined with the stamina of the range mare. Such horses make excellent polo ponies, hunters and jumpers.

In the polo ponies classes the show will draw entries from the best mounts owned by Boise polo players, including the fine strings of the three Fletcher brothers, which are admittedly the best polo horses in the northwest. Not only are these horses of the polo type in breeding and conformation, but they have been actually proven in the heat of hard-fought games.

The five-gaited saddle horse class will be one of the outstanding features of the show. Boise has several well-bred and trained saddle horses, including the C. C. Anderson mounts, which are well known in show circles.

Jumpers to Appear

The jumping class will be open to all comers and a large field of jumpers is assured, according to Captain Rogers. The course will be over five hurdles, including the brush jump, rail jump, brick wall, picket fence and the triple bar. There are a number of excellent jumpers in the local cavalry troop. A novelty jumping feature will be the "human hurdle" and the "fire jump," both of which require steady nerves on the part of the horse and rider.

Two events, a three-gaited class and an egg-and-spoon race, are open for women. Mrs. Leo J. Falk will have charge of the women's riding class in preparation for the show. The egg and spoon race is a novelty feature that gives an excellent opportunity to demonstrate their horsemanship.

Children's Class

A children's class, for youngsters under 14, is also included in the show. The young riders will be required to exhibit their mounts at three gaits, walk, trot and canter. They will be judged on gaits, quality and manners. Captain Rogers will have charge of the children's equitation class.

Judges of the show will be Captains N. E. Waldron and Cox, government remount officers from Salt Lake, and John Smeed, well known Caldwell horseman.—The Idaho Sunday Statesman.

The Captain Rogers mentioned is a former Hondo boy, Joe Rogers, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Rogers, who is now a Captain in the Cavalry branch of the U. S. army.

Oysterpuff—So you're setting your boy up in the bakery business? Fogg—Yes, he's so keen for dough and such a swell loafer it looks as if he would rise in the business.
—The Pathfinder.

Lulu—My dear, what makes you look so happy?
Susie—I just saw my husband shot.
Lulu—But how could such a terrible thing as that give you pleasure?
Susie—It was the first time I ever pulled a trigger.
—The Pathfinder.

Judge—Do you mean to say that such a physical wreck as your husband gave you that black eye?
Plaintiff—Your Honor, he wasn't a physical wreck until he gave me the black eye.
—The Pathfinder.
